Personal:

James lives near Washington, DC and in Atlanta, GA. James holds a BA degree with a double major in computer science/business administration. His career started as a computer programmer before rising through a successful business career focused on high tech. James enjoys fitness, guitar and photography of his family. His passion is to help charitable organizations impact the world for good both locally and globally.

Not-For-Profit Experience:

James has been involved in charitable organizations throughout his life ranging from his local church to Habitat for Humanity. Much of his consulting since the end of his Cisco career has been with not-for-profit organizations.

- James founded LTG Foundation, a charity focused on teaching high capacity tech sector executives the joy of giving.
- James continually renews his personal growth through various activities.
 - He is a CS. Lewis Institute Fellow
 - A 6 year participant in the Time Out Conference in Monterey, CA.
- James advised the leadership of Christian Financial Concepts. Later he served the leadership of Crown Financial Ministries by helping define core values, structure Crown's organization for global impact, and by teaching principles for building effective alliances with organizations ranging from Focus on the Family to Southern Baptist Convention.
- James has acted as the interim Chief Operating Officer for Fellowship of Companies for Christ, Int'l, a 30-year ministry which has recently experienced international growth in 67 countries.
- James also served as the interim CEO for Walk Thru the Bible, another 30 year ministry. His efforts there involved maturing a new executive team, restructuring the organization, and establishing the implementation steps for a 10 Year Plan. James also assisted in the successful dissolution of a merger with Living on the Edge ministry.
- James served as Chairman of the Board for Forget Me Not Ministries, a ministry of healing and hospitality for the "front line workers" of other Christian ministries.
- James is well known at National Christian Foundation as well as several other national and global ministries and organizations.
- James was identified in 2000 by USA Today as one of a next generation of individuals pioneering new ways to "give back"
- Currently James is serving on following organizations:
 - Advocate at large for La Red Business Network and Global Priorities.
 - Facilitator of The Loom Fund, a donator advised fund.
 - Chairman and founder of Kingdom Purposes
